Show*

Frankie is an impassioned voice for everyone searching for useful insights and information on traditional and alternative approaches to lifestyle, healthcare and wellbeing. She is committed to spreading sound advice from experts and educating listeners on how to take personal responsibility for their own health.

Frankie's mission began many years ago as she watched several friends and family members die unnecessarily from various ailments. Since then she has attracted world-renowned experts to her show. They include doctors, fitness gurus and environmentalists such as Dr. Andrew Weil, Deepak Chopra and Suzanne Somers. The resulting conversations are insightful, inspiring and lively.

Whether it is the danger of environmental toxins or a mindset that can help through difficult times, Frankie will expose listeners to new ideas and new approaches that enhance their quality of life.
